Consent Reprimand

DAVISON, KEVIN

NSRoP Registration Number: 29868

In a decision dated April 29th 2026, the Complaints Committee of the Nova Scotia Regulator of Paramedicine (NSRoP) ordered, pursuant to section 84(1)(f) of the Regulated Health Professions Act (RHPA), that Kevin Davison be reprimanded for professional misconduct and/or conduct unbecoming, with his consent.

A Registrar's complaint alleged that several of Mr. Davison's publicly accessible social media posts included content that: used unprofessional or derogatory language; breached confidentiality; and/or promoted use of a product which was outside the scope of practice of paramedicine. His social media profile(s) included information which identified him as a paramedic. Mr. Davison had previously received a consent reprimand regarding inappropriate communication (including by social media) and had recent contact with NSRoP staff regarding his use of social media for product promotion. Mr. Davison did not deny that he made the posts; however, he denied that his comments were discriminatory, reflected a bias, or that he was promoting disrespect. He also felt that his communication was protected by freedom of expression. With respect to product promotion, he denied giving medical advice.

Based on the available information, the Committee was satisfied that Mr. Davison breached the Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice related to, inter alia, cultural safety and humility, confidentiality, and communication.

The Committee determined that under these circumstances, Mr. Davison's breaches of the Standards and the Code were unprofessional, and that there was sufficient evidence that, if proven, would constitute professional misconduct and/or conduct unbecoming and warranted imposing a licensing sanction. The Committee therefore determined that a reprimand is an appropriate outcome in this situation.

On May 29, 2026, Mr. Davison consented to the reprimand.
